National Guard Call Plan Up For Consideration After Senate Okeh

WASHINGTON, August 14—Urging immediate approval of compulsory military training, Secretary of Navy Frank Knox today told congress that "If England should go down—which I pray God she will not—we will be left without a friend on earth."

Warning that "this country is facing the most serious crisis in her entire history," Knox, testifying before the house military affairs committee, said: "The only way we can protect ourselves against these enemies of Britain is to be so strong they will be afraid to touch us."

WASHINGTON, August 14—The fate of the administration's military conscription program depends on Wendell L. Willkie, Republican presidential nominee, Sen. Johnson (D) Colo., declared today.

A leader of the bipartisan bloc fighting conscription, Johnson expects the issue to be settled one way or the other when Willkie makes his acceptance speech at Elwood, Ind., Saturday.

"If Mr. Willkie opposes peace-time conscription the bill will be defeated," Johnson said. "If he supports it the bill will pass by a large majority, and if he takes a neutral position there will be some sort of a compromise bill."

While the senate debated the conscription bill the house military affairs committee heard Secretary of the Navy Knox on the issue, and the house considered the senate-passed companion bill to authorize the President to call up the National Guard and reserve corps for one year's training.

No Political Issue

Johnson said that should Willkie endorse the principle of peacetime conscription it would deflate the bill as a political issue and release a lot of the fence Democrats and Republicans to vote for it. On the other hand, he said, if Willkie vigorously opposes conscription the battle lines will be tightly drawn and cause many Democrats to swing over to the Republican side of the issue.

Johnson pointed out that while President Roosevelt has not declared himself on the pending conscription bill, he has repeatedly endorsed the principle of peacetime compulsory military and home defense training.

HIT-SKIP AUTO KILLS LONDON, O., SCHOOL LAD

LONDON, O., August 14—Harvey Carpenter, 17-year-old London High School boy, was killed today by a hit-skip motorist, three miles north of London, according to Madison County Coroner W. E. Lukens. The youth's body was found in the highway by J. L. Baker, of Cleveland.

County deputies immediately spread an alarm, but no trace of the deathcar driver was found.

Basketball To Be Played, Bowling Alleys To Be Operated

Having received no satisfactory offer for their property, members of the Circleville Athletic Club at a meeting Tuesday night voted to continue operation under their own management.

Orwell Barr, treasurer of the club, stated Wednesday that the club would be ready to reopen in September and would continue through the winter unless a satisfactory offer for the building was received. The Pumpkin Show dance will be held this year the same as always, he said.

If the club continues to operate during the winter months, basketball games may be scheduled and additional bowling leagues may be organized.

Negotiations for the East Main Street property have been carried on since last February, propositions having been considered from the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and out-of-town business establishments.

SLEEPING BERLIN HEARS ALARM AS FOES APPROACH

BERLIN, August 14—An air raid alarm that lasted three-quarters of an hour aroused Berliners from their beds early today. The all-clear signal sounded at 2:25 a. m.

(Editor's Note: Reuters (British) News Agency reported that the German radio station at Bremen went off the air shortly before midnight, indicating the presence of British warplanes over that area. It was stated the R. A. F. also was probably operating in the region of Berlin.)

Later a German propaganda ministry spokesman said the alarm was "mainly precautionary" and sounded because enemy planes "threatened to approach the Berlin district but were driven off by anti-aircraft fire."

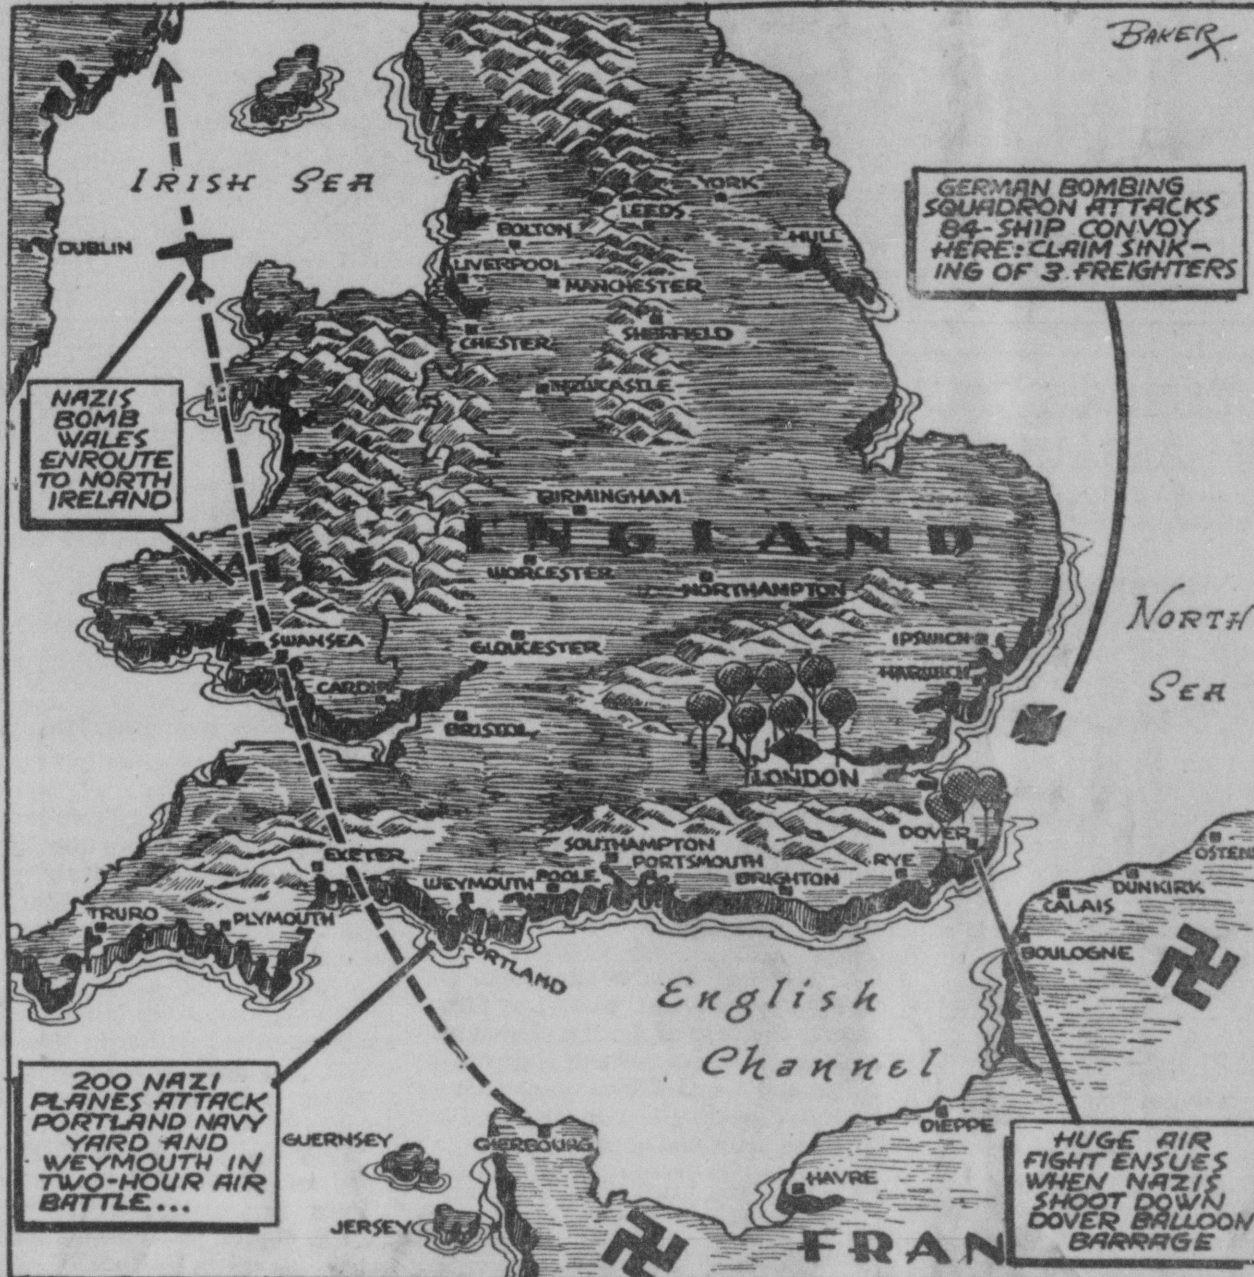

He stated that no British aircraft penetrated the Berlin area proper. Likewise, he denied that Jueterbog south of Berlin had been bombed.

An official explanation of the warning stated: "Some enemy planes were reported approaching the city, but later passed from the vicinity or withdrew without dropping bombs."

TWO KILLED IN PLANE

HAINESVILLE, Ill., August 14—Two men were killed instantly today when the airplane they were piloting nosed into a crash as they were taking off. Dead were Arno Hamilton Kunath, part owner of a Northbrook airport, and William Zimmerman, 32, of Northbrook.

Moves in Aerial Blitzkrieg on Britain

MARKED on this map are the localities over which the greatest air battles of the war were fought as some 400 German warplanes blasted at the coast of England and at Channel shipping. The Nazis are making a determined effort to destroy Britain's balloon barrage and despite heavy losses continue to send over wave after wave of bombers.

Milan And Turin Aircraft Factories Damaged; One Raider Goes Down

LONDON, August 14—Successful British air attacks on military objectives in northern Italy last night were announced by the Air Ministry today.

"Preliminary reports indicate that heavy damage was done to aircraft factories at Milan and Turin," the statement said. "All our bombers returned safely except one that made a forced landing in the sea near our coast. The crew was rescued."

ROME, August 14—Leaflets warning the Italian people they are fighting alongside their "hereditary enemy" were dropped by British planes on Milan, Turin and other North Italian cities last night, it was learned today.

FUEHRER'S PLAN REPORT GERMAN OF ASSAULT ON 'CHUTISTS HELD ISLES OUTLINED IS UNCONFIRMED

LONDON, August 14—The London Daily Express today set forth a full advance description of Nazi Germany's alleged campaign of invasion, involving the landing of thousands of troops under a gas barrage.

Basing its story on Swiss and German reports, the paper said that Germany was concentrating huge numbers of flat-bottomed landing boats in the Baltic, while expeditionary troops were being given mass swimming instruction.

Germany hopes first to capture several important ports from the skies, the Express said, and then land large numbers of troops behind the towns while Stuka dive-bombers carry out a campaign of destruction.

The Germans are expected to try a number of feints and false landings along the coast to draw off the defending forces while launching their real attack anywhere between the Shetland Islands and the east and south coasts.

The Nazi high command, according to the Express, has developed a new gas spray and built thousands of large containers that can be dropped from the air like bombs.

The containers are filled with a gas of an arsenic type, the Express said, and were used effectively at Lille and along the Maginot Line.

MARKET QUIETS AFTER BIG FALL OF PREVIOUS DAY

NEW YORK, August 14—The stock market quieted down today after the break of one to six points yesterday.

Leaders moved irregularly higher at the start, but the move failed to attract any new buying and prices settled back into a mixed and colorless price range later in the forenoon.

Steels, which were among the chief selling targets yesterday, displayed a firm tone throughout the forenoon. However, Bethlehem's top gain of just under a point and U. S. Steel's advance of almost as much were halved by the end of the first hour. Youngstown Sheet & Tube gave up a half-point gain.

1,200 Germans Took Part In Tuesday's Battle, British Declare

LONDON, August 14—For the fourth day in succession, hundreds of war planes clashed in violent combat off the coasts of England today as Nazi raiders swarmed over the country from all directions.

Three hundred planes were reported engaged in scattered air battles over the southeast coast. Ten out of 12 attacking dive-bombers were shot down by Royal Air Force planes and anti-aircraft fire in one raid.

While another violent encounter was reported under way off the southwest coast, enemy raiders appeared over the northeast areas of England for the first time since the German air force opened its "blitzkrieg" offensive on Sunday.

In one raid along the southeast coast, 14 bombers escorted by 20 fighters dropped 20 bombs and flew low enough to machine-gun the streets. The raiders then split into two formations. One was attacked by Spitfires and the other by anti-aircraft.

Eye-witnesses stated that anti-aircraft guns accounted for four of the Germans. Two were destroyed simultaneously when a shell burst between them, blowing off the tail of one and disintegrating the other.

Dog-Fights Fill Air

Wildest dog-fights took place above the clouds in a series of combats stretching across miles of sky. The fighting apparently started from one centralized attack in the southeast. Several German planes were reported to have fallen into the sea and at least four on land. Dorniers and Messerschmitts were among the victims.

While no official confirmation was available, it was understood that a tremendous aerial engagement was in progress up to late this afternoon over the southeast area.

Three Nazi planes were reported brought down by the R. A. F. in an attack by 12 dive-bombers on a southeast town. Anti-aircraft fire was understood to have so damaged a fourth that it crashed into the sea.

Details of the fighting, which followed an over-night "breathing spell" of relative quiet, were not forthcoming immediately.

(Editor's Note: German sources in Berlin said the Nazi air force had attacked Britain with renewed fury and had split wider gaps in the British air defenses.)

At the same time, advices reached London stating enemy planes were believed to be over south-eastern England during the forenoon.

EVICTED FAMILY OF NINE FINDS SOLACE IN JAIL

PAINESVILLE, August 14—Evicted from their Painesville home because they could not pay rent, a mother and her eight children, ranging in age from a few months to 12 years, today found temporary shelter in Lake County jail.

The family was taken in by Sheriff James Maloney, whose sister, Margaret, jail matron, provided food for them. The father of the family was removed from WPA rolls when it was found he was not a citizen.

Relief authorities are experiencing some difficulty finding quarters for the family with the $15 to $20 a month rent that relief agencies can pay.

DEFEAT OF NAZI SHIPS CLAIMED

British Say Destroyers Successful In Early Morning Battle

LONDON, August 14—British destroyers scored a victory over light units of the German navy in an engagement during the early hours of the morning, the admiralty announced today.

Two British destroyers, the Malcolm and Verity, caught the enemy force, which consisted of six armed trawlers and three "E" (torpedo) boats, in the rays of their searchlights, the admiralty announcement said.

The enemy ships attempted to escape behind a smoke-screen, but were immediately engaged by the British destroyers. Three vessels were seen to be hit and one armed trawler was thought to have been sunk by the destroyers' fire. The British ships suffered no casualties or damage.

The admiralty admitted at the same time that the mine-sweeping trawler Elizabeth Angela had been sunk by German airplanes with one fatality.

WAR MANEUVERS PROVIDE TASTE OF REAL COMBAT

CAMP MCCOY, Wis., August 14—Battalion training, with equal emphasis on attack and defense movements, occupied national guardsmen and regular troops of the Second Army today.

For the first time in this early stage of the annual maneuvers, the troops brought into use some of the weapons they would use in actual warfare. Although officers admitted deficiencies in available weapons and equipment, various strategems were employed to give the men a taste of what their duties would be in battle.

At the same time, Lieut.-Gen. Stanley H. Ford, commanding general, warned his officers to exercise every initiative to produce results "beyond those of your adversaries."

The army must not be lulled, General Ford said, "into feeling that the current European war has exhausted all the ideas pertaining to warfare."

"It is the tendency," he said, "to be content to imitate what has already been developed. This is not sufficient. Seek to go beyond what seems to be good enough. Strive in every mission to exercise the initiative that will produce results beyond those of your adversaries."

Germany Awaits "Greatest Moment" In 900 Years; Losses Discussed

BERLIN, August 14—Operating from German, Dutch and Belgian bases, Nazi war planes penetrated British defenses along the English Channel today and launched a widespread attack on numerous important objectives, it was announced by the Nazi high command.

Under cover of heavy clouds, the German raiders reached the British coast unnoticed, it was said, and since early morning have been violently attacking their objectives.

(Editor's Note: London reports a tremendous new aerial battle raging off the southwest coast of England.)

As the Reich's aerial blitzkrieg moved into its fourth day, German spokesmen said the German air force assaults would continue without mercy during the next few days, giving the British defenders no rest and no quarter.

The attacks, they added, are proceeding according to plan.

At the same time an official German announcement said that British losses in air warfare yesterday had reached the staggering total of 132 planes.

Of these, it was claimed, 74 British planes were downed in air battles over England and the English Channel. Fifteen British Bristol-Blenheim bombers were shot down by German fighting planes over Aalborg, Denmark and another British bomber was downed there by anti-aircraft fire, according to the announcement.

Loss Claims Differ Finally 42 more British aircraft were destroyed either by anti-aircraft fire over German or German-held territory or by German bombs while on the ground in British airports, it was claimed.

The announcement added that 28 German planes failed to return to their bases.

(Editor's Note: The British Air Ministry announced that 78 German planes were shot down in yesterday's battles, in which only 13 British fighting planes were lost. In addition, the British admitted, they lost 12 other planes which failed to return from bombing raids.)

In Berlin, German authorities indicated the Nazi air attacks on the British Isles will continue until the English sky has been cleared of British war planes, English land defenses have been smashed and Britain's inland military power "rent asunder."

As a result, these sources contended, the German air force is fully prepared and ready to take on "any foe."

DAYTON, O., GIRL KILLED IN FALL OFF HIGH CLIFF

YORK HARBOR, Me., August 14—Helen Thomas, 13-year-old blonde artist of Dayton, O., who fell to her death over a 20-foot cliff, apparently toppled when she sought to retrieve a sketching pencil, medical authorities asserted today.

Medical Examiner Charles W. Kinghorn said the girl's body was found at the foot of the cliff with an open sketch book a few feet from her outstretched arms. She was found by a searching party organized after her father, A. A. Thomas, Dayton writer, reported his daughter missing when she failed to return for dinner.

German parachutes have been found in England, it was said, but thus far no parachute troops have been landed. So far as is known, the parachutes which have been found are not the type previously used by Germany's air troops.

ALBANIAN DEATH BLAME PUT ON PLOT BY BRITISH

ROME, August 14—England today was accused of instigating the murder of the Albanian Minority Leader Daut Hoggia with the intention of starting general disorders in the Balkans.

The accusation was made by Virginio Gayda, often called the "mouthpiece" of Premier Mussolini.

Writing in the Giornale d'Italia, Gayda charged that the recent assassination of Hoggia was "part of a great plot worked out in agreement between Athens and London against Albania and the axis powers in the Balkans."

(Editor's Note: Serious tension has developed in Italo-Greek relations as a result of the murder of Hoggia. The Italian press claims Hoggia was beheaded by Greek political slayers on former Albanian territory and his head carried through nearby villages as a warning to the population against any movement favoring a return of the territory to Albania.)

Germany Awaits "Greatest Moment" In 900 Years; Losses Discussed

BERLIN, August 14—Operating from German, Dutch and Belgian bases, Nazi war planes penetrated British defenses along the English Channel today and launched a widespread attack on numerous important objectives, it was announced by the Nazi high command.

Under cover of heavy clouds, the German raiders reached the British coast unnoticed, it was said, and since early morning have been violently attacking their objectives.

(Editor's Note: London reports a tremendous new aerial battle raging off the southwest coast of England.)

As the Reich's aerial blitzkrieg moved into its fourth day, German spokesmen said the German air force assaults would continue without mercy during the next few days, giving the British defenders no rest and no quarter.

The attacks, they added, are proceeding according to plan. At the same time an official German announcement said that British losses in air warfare yesterday had reached the staggering total of 132 planes.

Of these, it was claimed, 74 British planes were downed in air battles over England and the English Channel. Fifteen British Bristol-Blenheim bombers were shot down by German fighting planes over Aalborg, Denmark and another British bomber was downed there by anti-aircraft fire, according to the announcement.

Loss Claims Differ Finally 42 more British aircraft were destroyed either by anti-aircraft fire over Germany or German-held territory or by German bombs while on the ground in British airports, it was claimed.

The announcement added that 28 German planes failed to return to their bases.

(Editor's Note: The British Air Ministry announced that 78 German planes were shot down yesterday's battles, in which only 13 British fighting planes were lost. In addition, the British admitted, they lost 12 other planes which failed to return from bombing raids.)

In Berlin, German authorities indicated the Nazi air attacks on the British Isles will continue until the English sky has been cleared of British war planes. English land defenses have been smashed and Britain's inland military power "rent asunder."

As a result, these sources contended, the German air force is fully prepared and ready to take on "any foe."

DAYTON, O., GIRL KILLED IN FALL OFF HIGH CLIFF

YORK HARBOR, Me., August 14—Helen Thomas, 15-year-old blonde artist of Dayton, O., who fell to her death over a 20-foot cliff, apparently toppled when she sought to retrieve a sketching pencil, medical authorities asserted today.

Medical Examiner Charles W. Kinghorn said the girl's body was found at the foot of the cliff with an open sketch book a few feet from her outstretched arms.

She was found by a searching party organized after her father, A. A. Thomas, Dayton writer, reported his daughter missing when she failed to return for dinner.

NAZIS TO GRANT FOES NO REST, REICH DECLARES

Bombers Move On England From Bases In Three Channel Districts

In the grimmest possible terms, German spokesmen predicted: "When doomday nears and long-range land cannon have joined the holocaust, then on some dawn England's skies will be darkened by German air legions which will make the present attacks seem like a secondary preliminary."

"They will shake the British Isles like an earthquake with a bombing tornado."

From all indications these promised Nazi assaults are scheduled to begin soon. German weather experts have forecast bad flying weather over the channel in about 10 days, and this prediction undoubtedly has been taken into consideration by the German general staff.

They added that for the time being the German army is leaving it up to the air force to get England "punch drunk in preparation for the Reich's greatest moment in 900 years."

They left no doubt that this "greatest moment" will come, in their opinion, when German forces invade England.

If it is correct, as the Germans claim, that the British air force on Monday and yesterday resisted German air attacks merely in a defensive manner in an effort to conserve strength, then it appears that the grim game of "hide and seek" between the two air forces will become increasingly intense.

But, said German authorities, this will not prevent the R.A.F. from taking a severe battering in the long run.

They declared it is "futile" for the British to hope that German air power will exhaust itself before the R.A.F. is exhausted because—as they put it—the German air arm has "enough reserves to take on three Englands."

Americans Considered

Instead of under-estimating British air power, they declared, Chancellor Hitler and Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering made allowances for "every excess contingency, including shipments of American planes to England."

Johnson said the senate plans to recess tomorrow to allow the Republicans to attend Willkie's notification ceremony. This, he said, is part of the administration's strategy to postpone voting on important amendments to the bill until Willkie has made his position known. Senate Majority Leader Barkley said the senate has not yet decided on the recess.

terday's massive combats in which, with some 1,200 aircraft participating, the British claimed 78 German warbirds were shot down.

In contrast to the heavy Nazi losses, said an air ministry announcement, only 13 British fighting planes were lost in yesterday's fighting, the heaviest so far.

Ten of the British pilots who were shot down are safe, the air ministry added, although three suffered wounds.

While the German air armadas swept over Britain yesterday, the Royal Air Force struck back with heavy bombing attacks on the Gotha airplane factory and other objectives in northwestern Germany, it was announced.

Targets in German-held France and Holland, airdromes and the seaplane base at Borkum, were attacked and medium British bombers carried out operations from Jutland to the Bay of Biscay. Twelve British planes failed to return from the expeditions.

a compromise, probably the Maloney proposal, to raise army enlistment pay from $21 to $31, authorize the President to set up conscription machinery, but postpone the registration of the 12-000,000 men between 21 and 31 who would be liable for one year's military training until January 1, or indefinitely, if the required number of men are obtained by voluntary enlistment.

Johnson said the senate plans to recess tomorrow to allow the Republicans to attend Willkie's notification ceremony. This, he said, is part of the administration's strategy to postpone voting on important amendments to the bill until Willkie has made his position known. Senate Majority Leader Barkley said the senate has not yet decided on the recess.

Referendum Proposed

Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, was ready to lead off for the opposition when the senate convened. Sen. Connally (D) Texas, will answer Sen. Wheeler's four-hour denunciation of peacetime conscription yesterday. The Montana Democrat challenged administration forces to make military conscription an issue in the November elections. He recently proposed that the issue be submitted to a popular referendum.

terday's massive combats in which, with some 1,200 aircraft participating, the British claimed 78 German warbirds were shot down.

In contrast to the heavy Nazi losses, said an air ministry announcement, only 13 British fighting planes were lost in yesterday's fighting, the heaviest so far.

Ten of the British pilots who were shot down are safe, the air ministry added, although three suffered wounds.

While the German air armadas swept over Britain yesterday, the Royal Air Force struck back with heavy bombing attacks on the Gotha airplane factory and other objectives in northwestern Germany, it was announced.

Targets in German-held France and Holland, airdromes and the seaplane base at Borkum, were attacked and medium British bombers carried out operations from Jutland to the Bay of Biscay. Twelve British planes failed to return from the expeditions.

CUAHY REMAINS SILENT ON SPEECH IN LONDON

NEW YORK, August 14.—Still silent on the recent British interview which brought him an official State Department rebuke, John Cudahy, U. S. ambassador to Belgium, was enroute to Washington today for conferences with President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

Arriving by clipper plane yesterday, Cudahy spent the night in New York with his family.

In the interview, Cudahy declared German soldiers in Belgium conducted themselves better than American soldiers might under similar circumstances and was quoted as stating the food situation in Belgium was serious.

CORN, SOYBEAN CROPS IN NEED OF HEAVY RAIN

Continued Drought To Cut Production In County, Observers Declare

MEADOWS BURNING UP
State Experts Claim That Loss May Reach Millions Throughout Area

Pickaway County corn fields and meadows, wilted and brown from more than a month of drought, were still waiting Wednesday for the weatherman to unbutton his clouds and soak them with a good rain, as weather observers predicted showers and cooler weather for the day.

Only rainfall registered during the month has been a half-inch shower August 6. The rain was the first received locally since July 25, when .35 inches of rain fell.

Local agricultural and canning company officials reported that the dry weather had reduced this year's sweet corn crop considerably, while farmers in many places in the county reported that their corn fields were "burning up." Pickaway County's soy bean crop will also be short unless rain comes soon, experts believe.

Although County Agent F. K. Blair stated that last week's rain had brought temporary aid to tasseling corn and pastures, he added that additional rain is necessary to prevent much damage to the county's corn crop.

Others in Trouble
Farmers in neighboring counties are also reporting severe crop damage resulting from the drought. Ross County Agent Fred Keeler reported that in some parts of Ross County farmers were using their corn crops for ensilage, in an attempt to salvage some value from their crops. Mrs. Alphonse Muller, Chillicothe weather observer, stated Tuesday that the county was experiencing its worst dry spell since 1930.

Officials in other counties report that the corn crop will be reduced from 40 to 50 percent because of dry weather. Circleville temperatures, which reached 90 degrees Tuesday, promised to climb to near that point again Wednesday, as partly clouded skies refused to bring rain.

COLUMBUS, August 14—Ohio farmers stand to lose between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 on their corn crop alone because of the current drought, agriculture experts estimated today.

And if the present dry weather continues, another $1,000,000 can be added to the loss. Heavy rainfall in the next few days, these farm experts opined, might save the late corn crop but would make no material difference in the bulk of the crop.

In some sections of the Buckeye state where only light showers fell during July, the corn crop is expected to be almost an entire loss. Other sections have had frequent showers, which, reports show, will tend to produce a more near normal crop.

Elmer Kruse, chairman of the Ohio Agriculture Conservation Commission, summed up the drought for Buckeye corn growers at seven bushels per acre.

Loss Enormous
"When you figure that there are approximately 1,250,000 acres of corn planted in Ohio," said Kruse, "you can see that the loss will be enormous."

"Some farmers will be in an even worse predicament. The seven bushel per acre loss is estimated as an average for the state as a whole. In some sections, of course, per acre losses will run well over the seven-bushel mark."

Willkie Notification Of Interest To Republicans Of Pickaway County

Circleville and Pickaway County will be represented Saturday at Elwood, Ind., when Wendell L. Willkie, Republican nominee for the presidency, is officially informed of his selection as the party's standard-bearer.

Just how many local Republicans will be in the audience is not certain, because numerous persons who have been contemplating making the journey to the Hoosier state have not completed their plans. Joe B. Work, Watt Street, a native of Indiana, will leave Friday with his family. They plan to visit friends and relatives in other Indiana cities during their trip. Mr. Work was acquainted with Willkie some years ago, and is also an acquaintance of Senator J. J. Davis of Pennsylvania, another native Hoosier.

Neither the Republican executive or central committee of the county will be represented, because neither Tom A. Renick or John E. Walters will be able to attend. Ray W. Davis, G. O. P. nominee for congress from the 11th district, may be in the crowd, and so may Charles H. May, but neither has made definite plans.

Others May Attend
Other persons have been discussing the trip, but none has announced definitely that he will attend.

On that day Elwood will play host to thousands who will see and hear the ceremony at which Willkie will be notified of his nomination.

It is a full and busy program which the Elwood citizens have mapped out to do proper welcome to their native son and to show him to all who come to Elwood.

First of the scores of special trains which will carry delegations to Elwood will begin arriving from the four corners of the country as early as 3 a. m. on August 17.

Tens of thousands are expected to come by automobile from a half dozen surrounding states. Special police arrangements as well as several hundred acres of parking space will be provided to expedite the automobile traffic.

"There will be plenty of room for everyone who wishes to come by automobile," asserted Homer Capehart, chairman of the arrangements committee. "If those traveling by automobile only will come early they will not suffer any traffic difficulties."

Capehart also pointed out that Callaway Park, where the notification ceremony will be held, is ideally suited for picnics and he said he expected that many thousands would come with picnic baskets and make a day of it. In addition, he said, more than 100 food and beverage stands will be in and around the park for the convenience of the visitors.

The activities in Elwood will get under way before noon when arriving delegations and bands will march to their places in the park. Mr. and Mrs. Willkie and their party are expected to arrive from Rushville, Ind., by special train shortly before noon. They will be greeted by the members, in uniform, of Summit Post No. 19, American Legion, Akron, Ohio. Mr. Willkie served two terms as commander of this Legion post.

To Greet Old Friends
Prior to the formal notification ceremonies at Callaway Park, Mr. and Mrs. Willkie will greet old Elwood friends in a brief ceremony at the Elwood High School. Mr. Willkie attended this school which bears over its entrance the words "The Hope of Our Country."

The formal ceremonies will begin promptly at 3 p. m. with Representative Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, presiding. The invocation will be pronounced by Dr. William Lowe Bryan, president emeritus of Indiana University from which Mr. Willkie was graduated.

Representative Joseph W. Martin, Jr., chairman of the Republican National Committee, will notify Mr. Willkie of his nomination. Mr. Martin will perform this function as chairman of the notification committee and as Permanent Chairman of the Republican Convention.

Mr. Willkie's acceptance speech will be in response to the Martin "notification."

Bishop Francis Noll, of the Fort Wayne Diocese of the Catholic Church, will conclude the ceremonies with benediction.

At Farm Confab

PICKAWAY County farmers have been invited to attend the Tri-State Farmers Day program Thursday at the Williams County fairgrounds in Montpelier, where Elmer F. Kruse, (above) Auglaize County farmer and chairman of the Ohio AAA committee, is scheduled to speak. Also at the meeting will be Claude R. Wickard, under-secretary of agriculture, who will talk on "Agriculture—Our First Line of Defense." Approximately 10,000 Ohio, Michigan and Indiana farmers are expected to attend the meeting.

PRIZES OF VALUE TO BE GIVEN TO DERBY WINNERS

Youngsters who compete in the annual Nail Keg Derby Friday on the Pickaway Street hill will be contesting for prizes of value. In the event, which is sponsored by The Daily Herald and conducted by the WPA recreation department, winners will receive orders for merchandise from leading Circleville stores, the orders to be of the value of $12.50. No cash will be presented to the youngsters who win prizes, but each of the winners will be invited to come to The Daily Herald office to receive merchandise orders.

Competition will be conducted in two divisions in the event which starts at 2 o'clock. A $5 merchandise prize will go to the winner in the distance event, with theatre tickets to be presented to second and third place winners. A $5 merchandise prize will be won by the speed event victor, with a $2.50 order going to the second place winner in this contest.

Each heat winner will be given a theatre pass.

From all indications the Pickaway Street hill will attract upward of 50 boys, and possibly some girls, who will compete.

SOUTHERN DAM BREAKS; LIVES MAY BE LOST

Tennessee, North Carolina Districts Suffering, Officials Say

ELIZABETHTON, Tenn., August 14 — Many persons were feared today to have lost their lives in a flood caused when a dam gave way near Pineola, N. C., loosing a torrent of water on several Tennessee and North Carolina towns.

There was only one known flood victim, Mrs. Bob Shell, 64, who was drowned at Elizabethton when the car in which she was seated was caught in the rush of water.

The fate of scores of persons was unknown, however, and many homes were in ruins with their occupants unreported.

Blocked highways and disrupted communication lines made it impossible to check all the stricken localities immediately.

Source of the flood according to authorities, was a private lake on the estate of H. C. Morman, about 35 or 40 miles northeast of Elizabethton.

Weakened by several days of torrential rain which swept through the Carolinas in the wake of Sunday's hurricane, the dam impounding the lake gave way, emptying the entire lake into the already swollen Watauga River. A veritable wall of water swept down the Watauga, inundating the countryside and parts of riverside towns.

Warning of the advancing flood preceded the racing waters from point to point down the river through Newland, N. C., Granberry, N. C., and to Elizabethton, giving many lowland residents time to reach higher ground. However several sources expressed fears a number of lives had been lost. At Elizabethton, the sheriff's office reported:

"We're afraid many people have been drowned, one hundred and fifty families—about 300 or 350 persons—live in the worst flooded districts and we won't be able to learn for several hours what happened to them. The water reached levels of from 20 to 25 feet near the rivers and many people living there must have been drowned."

Large rayon plants at Elizabethton were forced to cease operations. In two of the plants, the power systems were flooded.

A number of small towns and communities in the area were isolated by the high water. Scores of homes were flooded and their occupants forced to roofs and tree tops. As the water began to recede, rescue workers were able to reach some of those marooned, the sheriff's office said, but no full scale rescue effort was possible until a further recession of the water.

AUTO COLLISION KILLS ONE, HURTS THREE MORE

COLUMBUS, August 14—Miss Clara B. Hunt, 54, of nearby Westerville, was dead and three other persons injured today as the result of an auto crash near Oakley, Kas., relatives were informed.

The injured were understood to be Miss Katherine Voigt, Columbus; Richard Shoemaker, 15, Westerville, and William Hunt, 12, a nephew of Miss Hunt. The four persons were enroute home from a trip to Yellowstone National Park when a blowout threw their automobile into a ditch, according to word received here.

CORN, SOYBEAN CROPS IN NEED OF HEAVY RAIN

Continued Drought To Cut Production In County, Observers Declare

MEADOWS BURNING UP

State Experts Claim That Loss May Reach Millions Throughout Area

Pickaway County corn fields and meadows, wilted and brown from more than a month of drought, were still waiting Wednesday for the weatherman to unbutton his clouds and soak them with a good rain, as weather observers predicted showers and cooler weather for the day.

Only rainfall registered during the month has been a half-inch shower August 6. The rain was the first received locally since July 25, when .35 inches of rain fell.

Local agricultural and canning company officials reported that the dry weather had reduced this year's sweet corn crop considerably, while farmers in many places in the county reported that their corn fields were "burning up." Pickaway County's soy bean crop will also be short unless rain comes soon, experts believe.

Although County Agent F. K. Blair stated that last week's rain had brought temporary aid to tassel corn and pastures, he added that additional rain is necessary to prevent much damage to the county's corn crop.

Others in Trouble

Farmers in neighboring counties are also reporting severe crop damage resulting from the drought. Ross County Agent Fred Keeler reported that in some parts of Ross County farmers were using their corn crops for ensilage, in an attempt to salvage some value from their crops. Mrs. Alphonse Muller, Chillicothe weather observer, stated Tuesday that the county was experiencing its worst dry spell since 1930.

Officials in other counties report that the corn crop will be reduced from 40 to 50 percent because of dry weather.

Circleville temperatures, which reached 90 degrees Tuesday, promised to climb to near that point again Wednesday, as partly clouded skies refused to bring rain.

COLUMBUS, August 14—Ohio farmers stand to lose between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 on their corn crop alone because of the current drought, agriculture experts estimated today.

And if the present dry weather continues, another $1,000,000 can be added to the loss. Heavy rainfall in the next few days, these farm experts opined, might save the late corn crop but would make no material difference in the bulk of the crop.

In some sections of the Buckeye state where only light showers fell during July, the corn crop is expected to be almost an entire loss. Other sections have had frequent showers, which, reports show, will tend to produce a more near normal crop.

Elmer Kruse, chairman of the Ohio Agriculture Conservation Commission, summed up the drought for Buckeye corn growers at seven bushels per acre.

Loss Enormous

"When you figure that there are approximately 1,250,000 acres of corn planted in Ohio," said Kruse, "you can see that the loss will be enormous."

"Some farmers will be in an even worse predicament. The seven bushel per acre loss is estimated as an average for the state as a whole. In some sections, of course, per acre losses will run well over the seven-bushel mark."

Willkie Notification Of Interest To Republicans Of Pickaway County

Circleville and Pickaway County will be represented Saturday at Elwood, Ind., when Wendell L. Willkie, Republican nominee for the presidency, is officially informed of his selection as the party's standard-bearer.

Just how many local Republicans will be in the audience is not certain, because numerous persons who have been contemplating making the journey to the Hoosier state have not completed their plans. Joe B. Work, Watt Street, a native of Indiana, will leave Friday with his family. They plan to visit friends and relatives in other Indiana cities during their trip. Mr. Work was acquainted with Willkie some years ago, and is also an acquaintance of Senator J. J. Davis of Pennsylvania, another native Hoosier.

Neither the Republican executive or central committee of the county will be represented, because neither Tom A. Renick or John E. Walters will be able to attend. Ray W. Davis, G. O. P. nominee for congress from the 11th district, may be in the crowd, and so may Charles H. May, but neither has made definite plans.

Others May Attend

Other persons have been discussing the trip, but none has announced definitely that he will attend.

On that day Elwood will play host to thousands who will see and hear the ceremony at which Willkie will be notified of his nomination.

It is a full and busy program which the Elwood citizens have mapped out to do proper welcome to their native son and to show him to all who come to Elwood.

First of the scores of special trains which will carry delegations to Elwood will begin arriving from the four corners of the country as early as 3 a. m. on August 17.

Tens of thousands are expected to come by automobile from a half dozen surrounding states. Special police arrangements as well as several hundred acres of parking space will be provided to expedite the automobile traffic.

"There will be plenty of room for everyone who wishes to come by automobile," asserted Homer Capehart, chairman of the arrangements committee. "If those traveling by automobile only will come early they will not suffer any traffic difficulties."

Capehart also pointed out that Callaway Park, where the notification ceremony will be held, is ideally suited for picnics and he said he expected that many thousands would come with picnic baskets and make a day of it. In addition, he said, more than 100 food and beverage stands will be in and around the park for the convenience of the visitors.

The activities in Elwood will get under way before noon when arriving delegations and bands will march to their places in the park. Mr. and Mrs. Willkie and their party are expected to arrive from Rushville, Ind., by special train shortly before noon. They will be greeted by the members, in uniform, of Summit Post No. 19, American Legion, Akron, Ohio. Mr. Willkie served two terms as commander of this Legion post.

To Greet Old Friends

Prior to the formal notification ceremonies at Callaway Park, Mr. and Mrs. Willkie will greet old Elwood friends in a brief ceremony at the Elwood High School. Mr. Willkie attended this school which bears over its entrance the words "The Hope of Our Country."

The formal ceremonies will begin promptly at 3 p. m. with Representative Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, presiding. The invocation will be pronounced by Dr. William Love Bryan, president emeritus of Indiana University from which Mr. Willkie was graduated.

Representative Joseph W. Martin, Jr., chairman of the Republican National Committee, will notify Mr. Willkie of his nomination. Mr. Martin will perform this function as chairman of the notification committee and as Permanent Chairman of the Republican Convention.

Mr. Willkie's acceptance speech will be in response to the Martin "notification." Bishop Francis Noll, of the Fort Wayne Diocese of the Catholic Church, will conclude the ceremonies with benediction.

SOUTHERN DAM BREAKS; LIVES MAY BE LOST

Tennessee, North Carolina Districts Suffering, Officials Say

ELIZABETHTON, Tenn., August 14—Many persons were feared today to have lost their lives in a flood caused when a dam gave way near Pineola, N. C., loosing a torrent of water on several Tennessee and North Carolina towns.

There was only one known flood victim, Mrs. Bob Shell, 64, who was drowned at Elizabethton when the car in which she was seated was caught in the rush of water.

The fate of scores of persons was unknown, however, and many homes were in ruins with their occupants unreported.

Blocked highways and disrupted communication lines made it impossible to check all the stricken localities immediately.

Source of the flood according to authorities, was a private lake on the estate of H. C. Morman, about 35 or 40 miles northeast of Elizabethton.

Weakened by several days of torrential rain which swept through the Carolinas in the wake of Sunday's hurricane, the dam impounding the lake gave way, emptying the entire lake into the already swollen Watauga River. A veritable wall of water swept down the Watauga, inundating the countryside and parts of riverside towns.

Warning of the advancing flood preceded the racing waters from point to point down the river through Newland, N. C., Granberry, N. C., and to Elizabethton, giving many lowland residents time to reach higher ground. However several sources expressed fears a number of lives had been lost. At Elizabethton, the sheriff's office reported:

"We're afraid many people have been drowned, one hundred and fifty families—about 300 or 350 persons—live in the worst flooded districts and we won't be able to learn for several hours what happened to them. The water reached levels of from 20 to 25 feet near the rivers and many people living there must have been drowned."

Large rayon plants at Elizabethton were forced to cease operations. In two of the plants, the power systems were flooded.

A number of small towns and communities in the area were isolated by the high water. Scores of homes were flooded and their occupants forced to roofs and tree tops. As the water began to recede, rescue workers were able to reach some of those marooned, the sheriff's office said, but no full scale rescue effort was possible until a further recession of the water.

AUTO COLLISION KILLS ONE, HURTS THREE MORE

COLUMBUS, August 14—Miss Clara B. Hunt, 54, of nearby Westerville, was dead and three other persons injured today as the result of an auto crash near Oakley, Kas., relatives were informed.

The injured were understood to be Miss Katherine Volt, Columbus; Richard Shoemaker, 15, Westerville, and William Hunt, 12, a nephew of Miss Hunt. The four persons were enroute home from a trip to Yellowstone National Park when a blowout threw their automobile into a ditch, according to word received here.

MURDER, SUICIDE VERDICT

BATAVIA, August 14—A verdict of attempted murder and suicide was returned today in the wounding of 19-year-old William Stockton, and the fatal shooting of his father, Owen Stockton, 61. Police said the elder Stockton shot his son during a quarrel over the use of an automobile. He then killed himself with a shotgun.

RAILROADER FALLS, DIES

DAYTON, August 14—Thaddeus Gilbeaut, 44-year-old Baltimore & Ohio Railroad brakeman, was dead today of injuries received when five coal cars, an engine and a tender passed over him at the railroad's coal loading docks. Officials said Gilbeaut had fallen from the top of a coal car.

PICKAWAY County farmers have been invited to attend the Tri-State Farmers Day program Thursday at the Williams County fairgrounds in Montpelier, where Elmer F. PRIZES OF VALUE TO BE GIVEN TO DERBY WINNERS

Youngsters who compete in the annual Nail Keg Derby Friday on the Pickaway Street hill will be contesting for prizes of value. In the event, which is sponsored by The Daily Herald and conducted by the WPA recreation department, winners will receive orders for merchandise from leading Circleville stores, the orders to be of the value of $12.50. No cash will be presented to the youngsters who win prizes, but each of the winners will be invited to come to The Daily Herald office to receive merchandise orders.

Competition will be conducted in two divisions in the event which starts at 2 o'clock. A $5 merchandise prize will go to the winner in the distance event, with theatre tickets to be presented to second and third place winners. A $5 merchandise prize will be won by the speed event victor, with a $2.50 order going to the second place winner in this contest.

Each heat winner will be given a theatre pass.

From all indications the Pickaway Street hill will attract upward of 50 boys, and possibly some girls, who will compete.

WOMAN'S BODY FOUND IN ERIE; MYSTERY SEEN

CLEVELAND, August 14—Cleveland and Ashtabula County authorities today attempted to clear up the mystery surrounding the death two weeks ago of Mrs. Benjamin Mozee of Nome, Alaska, whose disappearance from the lake steamer Seandbee was reported only yesterday.

A body washed to the shore of Lake Erie at Geneva-in-the-Lake, Ashtabula County, July 31, was identified early today as that of Mrs. Mozee, who left Cleveland on the Seandbee July 29 for the overnight trip to Buffalo. Her sister, Mrs. Frank Elliot of Cleveland, said Mrs. Mozee had planned to go on from Buffalo and visit relatives in New York and Connecticut.

Officials of the Cleveland and Buffalo Transit Co., owners of the Seandbee, said that Mrs. Mozee had occupied a little-used accommodation stateroom. Because she supposedly left the boat in Buffalo and there was no call for the stateroom, no one had entered it until a maid started to clean it up yesterday. The maid found Mrs. Mozee's personal effects.

Ashtabula County Coroner Charles Webster said that bruises about the eyes indicated Mrs. Mozee might have met with violence before her death. Her hands, he said, were covered with grease, as if she had attempted to cling to a grease-covered cable or rope.

CENSORSHIP
ONE of the greatest misfortunes in Europe today is the blight that has fallen on the press. Censorship on the Continent seems universal and complete. Even in such comparatively free countries as Sweden and Switzerland, writes Walter Duntant from Bucharest newspapers or writers that fail to present the "Axis" viewpoint have to struggle against overwhelming pressure.
"The result is," he says, "that all Europe is convinced that England is cowering in despair and darkness and on the verge of the abyss. Romanian newspapers, for instance, are full of German and Italian dispatches voicing signs of England's doom. They report as facts loose words of obscure politicians or journalists, or worthless rumors from Tokyo to Bombay, from Washington to Pretoria."
One of the strangest things about this general ignorance is that the British news broadcasts pay so little attention to the perversion of European opinion, and do so little to counteract the impression that England is on the edge of ruin.
Only in America, it seems, are the important facts of the European situation generally published and known. It would be a useful service if some of our radio stations would make a practice of broadcasting them to Europe.

PAYING THE SPEE
POOOR old Argentina is having a hard time with the seamen of the Admiral Graf Spee. They scuttled their ship outside Montevideo Harbor last December in order to avoid having it fall into British hands. Now the officers and men are interned in Argentina for the duration of the war. International law requires that seamen be paid their full naval salaries by the interned country. This has come to about $125,000 so far, and Germany remains strangely silent on the subject of repaying.
Internment is not imprisonment in any strict sense—that is, the men are simply held in the interned country, not penalized as for offenses—so usually the guarding may be rather light. But the sailors of the Spee have been trying to escape, so now their guards must be increased and the lines thrown around them tightened. Some of them have been trying to get into Chile, and a few have probably succeeded. Others have been found in the northern region where police had previously found an arms cache which was thought to have been connected with a Nazi plot to get Argentina into difficulty with Brazil.
Germans do seem to have a genius for

WORLD AT A GLANCE —By— Charles P. Stewart

THE IDEA of getting President Roosevelt and Wendell Willkie into an agreement on foreign policies not evolved by the country's politicians. Just who originated it isn't at all clear. It simply began making its appearance in the editorial columns of a considerable number of leading newspapers about the same time and apparently spontaneously. As for the politicians, they're puzzled to account for it. They don't believe the scheme could be made to work, either. Still, as a novelty, it's considerably, but informally, discussed in congressional circles.
The notion's this:
Just after the first of the year there may be a change in administrations. But in the meantime the existing administration has to go on shaping our national course relative to overseas conditions, and our military and naval preparations must be kept going up to full capacity.
Both our foreign policy and our preparations will slip over into 1941.
Suppose Willkie's elected. And suppose he thinks that our foreign relationships have been mismanaged and that our preparations aren't progressing satisfactorily. Yet the present isn't a juncture when it will be to the country's interest to have him undertake a lot of alterations. Nevertheless, if he's correct in his judgment that the preceding administration has bungled, it WILL be to the country's interest to have him effect whatever improvement he can.

COULD THEY AGREE?
So why not, right now, have F. D. R. and Wendell get together personally, and agree on a program, up to the end of December, that suits F. D. R. pretty well and that Wendell can carry on with if he wins in November?
The scheme's proponents concede that considerable compromising might be involved, but it seems to be their opinion that the dicker would work, more or less. Politicians don't concur.
They say that Willkie probably would be willing to advise the President and that the President would be willing to listen to him, but they're positive that he never will consent to be bound by any of Wendell's suggestions.
Politicians are practical chaps; their view is that the boosters for the kind of Roosevelt-Willkie compact referred to are a bunch of pure dreamers.
Their argument is pretty convincing. According to their reasoning the cry of "Don't swap presidents in an emergency like today's" is F. D. R.'s main advantage in the current campaign. "It is likely," they ask, "that he'll forego it by notifying all and sundry that they don't need to give him a third term—because Wendell will go right ahead with all his essential policies? Not by a darned sight," exclaim the practical politicians.

ONE VIEWPOINT
Some, even of the most practical of the gang, give it as their judgment that the president was sincere in making it known that he accepted a third nomination not because he wanted it, but because he deemed himself constrained to do so in so critical a situation. But that he doesn't want to be reelected, having once accepted a renomination!—ho, ho!—the practical boys laugh that proposition to scorn with one voice.
Advocates of a Roosevelt-Willkie liaison do advance on plausible theory.
It's to the effect that Herr Hitler deliberately picked, as his time for taking the war path, the eve of a national election in the United States.
Adolf, the story is, calculated that he'd be too busy campaigning to worry over the British fate, that our overseas policies would be in a state of flux, that he'd get what he was after while we were electioneering, and possibly that we'd choose a less anti-German White House tenant than President Roosevelt.
That's what the inter-candidate liaison promoters harp on. The politically practical aggregation, though, laughs at 'em, as idealists.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

HOPKINS OUT OF CAMPAIGN

WASHINGTON—When those Democratic leaders told Roosevelt at their White House conference, "Keep Hopkins out of the campaign," apparently they meant it.

One of those at the meeting was Ed Flynn, who succeeds to the National Chairmanship next Saturday. And it was Ed Flynn who was responsible for that Hyde Park announcement denying that Hopkins would sit on a political council-of-war with the President and Henry Wallace.

Flynn read in the Tuesday morning papers that Hopkins was to take part in the pow-wow. He had no information as to the source of the news report, but he strongly suspected Harry, himself.

However, Flynn wasted no time in arguing about the matter. He called up Hyde Park and bluntly insisted that "Hopkins is out." And he was. A half hour later, White House Secretary Bill Hassett summoned newsmen and told them Hopkins would not be present at the conference between Roosevelt and Wallace.

NOTE—The Secretary of Commerce spent the day whiling his time away playing bridge at a nearby Poughkeepsie hotel.

DECENTRALIZED SET-UP

Working at high speed behind the scenes for his taking over of the National Chairmanship, Flynn has completely reorganized the Democratic campaign machinery.

The crux of the new set-up is decentralization.

Instead of the central headquarters occupying four hotel floors in Manhattan, which Farley bossed, Flynn will establish a number of regional offices to be under the direction of local leaders. Already decided on are the following:

Eastern headquarters, located in New York, under Flynn himself; mid-western offices, in Chicago, under Paul McNutt; southern, in Birmingham, under Senator John Bankhead; Rocky Mountain, in Denver, under Senator Joe O'Mahoney, of Wyoming; southwestern, in a city yet to be selected, under Sam Rayburn, House Floor Leader and close friend of Jack Garner; Pacific coast, city and chief yet to be chosen. Heading a separate campaign group will be Mayor LaGuardia of New York, who will carry the Roosevelt-Wallace campaign among liberal and independent elements. The LaGuardia organization will be known as the Roosevelt Progressive Campaign Committee.

Flynn also plans a number of changes in National Committee personnel.

NOTE—When Flynn agreed to become Democratic Chairman he did so on one condition only, that he have a free hand to clean up the National Committee and run the campaign without interference making trouble for themselves and other people. These men had nothing to do but enjoy themselves—with pay—in one of the most interesting countries in the world and yet they had to go and make a mess of the situation! Argentina herself, however, gets a valuable lesson in Nazi honor.

Hay Fever Victim Born That Way

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THIS WEEK begins the fall hay fever season over most of the United States, and those who have obtained relief of their annoying symptoms from modern methods of treatment may well spend a little time recalling the fundamental experiments upon which our modern knowledge of the phenomena of hay fever and the related symptoms of allergy are based.

It all began at the dawn of this century on board the luxurious yacht of the Prince of Monaco. The Prince, besides owning the largest gambling joint—Monte Carlo—was one of the greatest marine biologists in the world. He had his yacht fitted up as a laboratory and often invited distinguished scientists to take trips with him. In 1901 he had as guest a French physiologist named Richet, and the Prince pointed out to him the peculiar effect of the tentacles of a certain small jellyfish on the human skin. It produced a reaction almost a burn, out of all proportion to the amount of poison secreted or the size of the jellyfish. Another peculiar thing was that some people were hardly affected at all, and others very seriously.

Serious Poison

Richet became interested and continued his studies of this poison in his Paris laboratories all through the winter and made one most annoying discovery that a small dose was fatal but a large dose wasn't.
He found what the fatal dose of his jellyfish poison was for his animals. He could give a dog a fourth or a third of that dose without producing any very serious symptoms. But then if a few days later he gave a tenth or a twentieth or even a hundredth of the dose to a dog which had already had a sub-lethal dose, it immediately died. Why should a hundredth of the dose kill, when the dog had previously absorbed a quarter of the dose without any bad effects?

Richet said the first dose had sensitized the animal, that this state was the opposite of prophylaxis, so he called it anaphylaxis, and the second minute dose did something to precipitate that state. That's all he said, but he got the Nobel Prize for it—and incidentally the peculiarities of any consequence has been said on the subject since.

Still a Mystery
If anybody would only explain exactly what does happen to the cells or the chemistry of the body of the sensitized animal, it would be a great help in dealing with the human conditions of sensitization that are similar to experimental anaphylaxis, which we call allergy. Plenty of people are working on it. It is certainly one of the most closely guarded of Nature's secrets.
Natural allergy, such as hay fever, is a good deal like experimental anaphylaxis, but it differs in some points. One is that with natural allergy there is no initial dose of the sensitizing substance. The hay fever patient seems to be born sensitized to pollen. Natural allergy too is almost never as severe as anaphylactic shock. We will discuss the peculiarities of the vaccine treatment tomorrow.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

BUSINESS PASS DEADLY
FEW IMPLEMENTS of bridge warfare are more deadly, when the right chance to use it arrives, than the "business pass," which some players call the "penalty pass." This comes after your partner has made an informative or take-out double, and the next player passes. If you find yourself loaded for the opponents' declaration, able to beat the tar-wadding out of it, you merely pass. On some occasions the opponents then will begin to squirm and keep bidding other suits in an effort to get out of trouble. Some of these your partner will double and some you will, with the poor victims winding up in a declaration which gets set worse than the one originally doubled.

When East passed the double of 1-Diamond, thereby in effect turning the double into a business double, South got panicky. Had he kept his mouth shut then, he would have had a good play for his contract and might have made it. But he made an "SOS redouble," to compel his partner to take him out. From then things got progressively worse for the side. When one tried a bid which one of the opponents could not double, the other took a crack at it.

The whole thing was started, of course, by the business pass.
West led his heart 4 to the A, then East took his club Q on a finesse of the J. The diamond Q was covered by the K and the singleton A—bad guessing by South—and then the heart 2 knocked out the K. The spade 7, covered by the 8, lost to the A. East took the diamond J, then lost the 9 to the 10. A club went to the A, then the spade J lost to the Q. The spade K, club K, heart Q and diamond 8 followed, setting it four tricks.

Jean Casimir Felix Guyon, Necker hospital, Paris, was famed for his gaitstone operations. His high fees for these stone operations enabled him to build a luxurious country house, of which he wrote: "This house was built from three stones."

The work of the face of people popularly called "mound builders" consists of earthworks, such as mounds, forts, effigies and look-outs. There are more than 10,000 such earthworks in the state of Ohio, U. S., more than in any other equal area in the world.

CHAPTER FORTY-ONE
FOR A MOMENT, a long moment, no one in Linda's living room spoke as the bathroom door opened and a woman emerged.
Then Sarah found her voice. "But Sue Ackerman went into that room," she said wildly. "And you—you're Mina Nevins!"
The prosecutor had motioned a policeman to the outer door. Now he looked into the bathroom, as though he expected to find the sister of the murdered girl some place in hiding.
When his search revealed nothing he came back. "Miss Nevins," he began, "where did you come from?"
The woman smiled, but Mina's curious, impersonal smile, did not answer.
"Are you and Mina Nevins the same person?" he asked, his eyes popping in his round young face.
Linda answered the question. "No, they are not. I've seen them together."
"Then how can Miss Ackerman be herself one minute and Mina Nevins, the actress, a little later?"

She paused and the prosecutor spoke sternly. "Go on!"
"The evening of the murder Mina was appearing in a radio broadcast. You know all about that. She's established the fact that she was locked in a studio during the time needed for the killing. Only she wasn't. I was impersonating her and she was perfectly free all evening!"
There was a silence so penetrating, so electrifying that it was breathless, as Sue Ackerman made her statement.
Mina—free, Linda was thinking. Then she could have come to the office. She could have walked up the long flights of stairs unseen and walked down again. Her handkerchief and her perfume had been left behind. She could have stolen the gun from the yacht.

"A tirade she put on against Linda Avery two days ago. She hates her. She isn't safe while Mina is around."
Linda shivered, remembering the odor of that chloroform and the emerald that had been hidden in her stateroom on the yacht.
"Has she confessed?"

CENSORSHIP

ONE of the greatest misfortunes in Europe today is the blight that has fallen on the press. Censorship on the Continent seems universal and complete. Even in such comparatively free countries as Sweden and Switzerland, writes Walter Durnant from Bucharest newspapers or writers that fail to present the "Axis" viewpoint have to struggle against overwhelming pressure.

"The result is," he says, "that all Europe is convinced that England is covering in despair and darkness and on the verge of the abyss. Romanian newspapers, for instance, are full of German and Italian dispatches voicing signs of England's doom. They report as facts loose words of obscure politicians or journalists, or worthless rumors from Tokyo to Bombay, from Washington to Pretoria."

One of the strangest things about this general ignorance is that the British news broadcasts pay so little attention to the perversion of European opinion, and do so little to counteract the impression that England is on the edge of ruin.

Only in America, it seems, are the important facts of the European situation generally published and known. It would be a useful service if some of our radio stations would make a practice of broadcasting them to Europe.

PAYING THE SPEE

POOR old Argentina is having a hard time with the seamen of the Admiral Graf Spee. They scuttled their ship outside Montevideo Harbor last December in order to avoid having it fall into British hands. Now the officers and men are interned in Argentina for the duration of the war. International law requires that seamen be paid their full naval salaries by the interned country. This has come to about $125,000 so far, and Germany remains strangely silent on the subject of repaying.

Internment is not imprisonment in any strict sense—that is, the men are simply held in the interned country, not penalized as for offenses—so usually the guarding may be rather light. But the sailors of the Spee have been trying to escape, so now their guards must be increased and the lines thrown around them tightened. Some of them have been trying to get into Chile, and a few have probably succeeded. Others have been found in the northern region where police had previously found an arms cache which was thought to have been connected with a Nazi plot to get Argentina into difficulty with Brazil.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

THE IDEA of getting President Roosevelt and Wendell Willkie into an agreement on foreign policies wasn't evolved by the country's politicians. Just who originated it isn't at all clear. It simply began making its appearance in the editorial columns of a considerable number of leading newspapers about the same time and apparently spontaneously. As for the politicians, they're puzzled to account for it. They don't believe the scheme could be made to work, either. Still, as a novelty, it's considerably, but informally, discussed in congressional circles.

The notion's this:
Just after the first of the year there may be a change in administrations. But in the meantime the existing administration has to go on shaping our national course relative to overseas conditions, and our military and naval preparations must be kept going up to full capacity.

Both our foreign policy and our preparations will slip over into 1941.

Suppose Willkie's elected. And suppose he thinks that our foreign relationships have been mismanaged and that our preparations aren't progressing satisfactorily. Yet the present isn't a juncture when it will be to the country's interest to have him undertake a lot of alterations. Nevertheless, if he's correct in his judgment that the preceding administration has bungled, it WILL be to the country's interest to have him effect whatever improvement he can.

COULD THEY AGREE?

So why not, right now, have F. D. R. and Wendell get together personally, and agree on a program, up to the end of December, that suits F. D. R. pretty well and that Wendell can carry on with if he wins in November?

The scheme's proponents concede that considerable compromising might be involved, but it seems to be their opinion that the dicker would work, more or less.

Politicians don't concur. They say that Willkie probably would be willing to advise the President and that the President would be willing to listen to him, but they're positive that he never will consent to be bound by any of Wendell's suggestions.

Politicians are practical chaps; their view is that the boosters for the kind of Roosevelt-Willkie compact referred to are a bunch of pure dreamers.

Their argument is pretty convincing. According to their reasoning the cry of "Don't swap presidents in an emergency like today's!" is F. D. R.'s main advantage in the current campaign. "It's likely," they ask, "that he'll forego it by notifying all and sundry that they don't need to give him a third term—because Wendell will go right ahead with all

HOPKINS OUT OF CAMPAIGN

WASHINGTON—When those Democratic leaders told Roosevelt at their White House conference, "Keep Hopkins out of the campaign," apparently they meant it.

One of those at the meeting was Ed Flynn, who succeeds to the National Chairmanship next Saturday. And it was Ed Flynn who was responsible for that Hyde Park announcement denying that Hopkins would sit on a political council-of-war with the President and Henry Wallace.

Flynn read in the Tuesday morning papers that Hopkins was to take part in the pow-wow. He had no information as to the source of the news report, but he strongly suspected Harry, himself.

However, Flynn wasted no time in arguing about the matter. He called up Hyde Park and bluntly insisted that "Hopkins is out." And he was. A half hour later, White House Secretary Bill Hassett summoned newsmen and told them Hopkins would not be present at the conference between Roosevelt and Wallace.

NOTE—The Secretary of Commerce spent the day whiling his time away playing bridge at a nearby Poughkeepsie hotel.

DECENTRALIZED SET-UP

Working at high speed behind the scenes for his taking over of the National Chairmanship, Flynn has completely reorganized the Democratic campaign machinery.

The crux of the new set-up is decentralization.

Instead of the central headquarters occupying four hotel floors in Manhattan, which Farley bossed, Flynn will establish a number of regional offices to be under the direction of local leaders. Already decided on are the following:

Eastern headquarters, located in New York, under Flynn himself; mid-western offices, in Chicago, under Paul McNutt; southern, in Birmingham, under Senator John Bankhead; Rocky Mountain, in Denver, under Senator Joe O'Mahoney, of Wyoming; southwestern, in a city yet to be selected, under Sam Rayburn, House Floor Leader and close friend of Jack Garner; Pacific coast, city and chief yet to be chosen. Heading a separate campaign group will be Mayor LaGuardia of New York, who will carry the Roosevelt-Wallace campaign among liberal and independent elements. The LaGuardia organization will be known as the Roosevelt Progressive Campaign Committee.

Flynn also plans a number of changes in National Committee personnel.

NOTE—When Flynn agreed to become Democratic Chairman he did so on one condition only, that he have a free hand to clean up the National Committee and run the campaign without interference making trouble for themselves and other people. These men had nothing to do but enjoy themselves—with pay—in one of the most interesting countries in the world and yet they had to go and make a mess of the situation! Argentina herself, however, gets a valuable lesson in Nazi honor.

Hay Fever Victim Born That Way

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THIS WEEK begins the fall hay fever season over most of the United States, and those who have obtained relief of their annoying symptoms from modern methods of treatment may well spend a little time recalling the fundamental experiments upon which our modern knowledge of the phenomena of hay fever and the related symptoms of allergy are based.

It all began at the dawn of this century on board the luxurious yacht of the Prince of Monaco.

The Prince, besides owning the largest gambling joint—Monte Carlo was one of the greatest marine biologists in the world. He had his yacht fitted up as a laboratory and often invited distinguished scientists to take trips with him. In 1901 he had as guest a French physiologist named Richet, and the Prince pointed out to him the peculiar effect of the tentacles of a certain small jellyfish on the human skin. It produced a reaction almost a burn, out of all proportion to the amount of poison secreted or the size of the jellyfish. Another peculiar thing was that some people were hardly affected at all, and others very seriously.

Serious Poison

Richet became interested and continued his studies of this poison in his Paris laboratories all through the winter and made one most annoying discovery that a small dose was fatal but a large dose wasn't.

He found that the fatal dose of his jellyfish poison was for his animals. He could give a dog a fourth or a third of that dose without producing any very serious symptoms. But then if a few days later he gave a tenth or a twentieth or even a hundredth of the dose to a dog which had already had a sub-lethal dose, it immediately died. Why should a hundredth of the dose kill, when the dog had previously absorbed a quarter of the dose without any bad effects?

Richet said the first dose had sensitized the animal, that this state was the opposite of prophylaxis, so he called it anaphylaxis, and the second minute dose did something to precipitate that state. That's all he said, but he got the Nobel Prize for it—and incidentally practically nothing of any consequence has been said on the subject since.

Still a Mystery

If anybody would only explain exactly what does happen to the cells or the chemistry of the body of the sensitized animal, it would be a great help in dealing with the human conditions of sensitization that are similar to experimental anaphylaxis, which we call allergy. Plenty of people are working on it. It is certainly one of the most closely guarded of Nature's secrets.

Natural allergy, such as hay fever, is a good deal like experimental anaphylaxis, but it differs in some points. One is that with natural allergy there is no initial dose of the sensitizing substance. The hay fever patient seems to be born sensitized to pollen. Natural allergy too is almost never as severe as anaphylactic shock. We will discuss the peculiarities of the vaccine treatment tomorrow.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

BUSINESS PASS DEADLY

FEW IMPLEMENTS of bridge warfare are more deadly, when the right chance to use it arrives, than the "business pass," which some players call the "penalty pass." This comes after your partner has made an informative or take-out double, and the next player passes. If you find yourself loaded for the opponents' declaration, able to beat the tar-wadding out of it, you merely pass. On some occasions the opponents then will begin to squirm and keep bidding other suits in an effort to get out of trouble. Some of these your partner will double and some you will, with the poor victims winding up in a declaration which gets set worse than the one originally doubled.

kept his mouth shut then, he would have had a good play for his contract and might have made it. But he made an "SOS" redouble, to compel his partner to take him out. From then things got progressively worse for the side. When one tried a bid which one of the opponents could not double, the other took a crack at it.

The whole thing was started, of course, by the business pass.

West led his heart 4 to the A, then East took his club Q on a finesse of the J. The diamond Q was covered by the K and the singleton A—bad guessing by South—and then the heart 2 knocked out the K. The spade 7, covered by the 8, lost to the A. East took the diamond J, then lost the 9 to the 10. A club went to the A, then the spade J lost to the Q. The spade K, club K, heart Q and diamond 8 followed, setting it four tricks.

The telephone rang. "Call for you, sir," someone told Robert. "A Miss Trent, calling from San Francisco."

"Oh, yes. I was expecting the call and asked my boyman to have it transferred down here." Robert answered as casually as though Miss Trent represented a line of hair brushes or flavoring extracts.

Linda saw his gray eyes crinkle at something that came from the other end of the line.

The room began to spin like a kaleidoscope. She knew that she was slipping from her chair, going, down, down, down . . .

One-Minute Test

1. When was the term "continental congress" first used?
2. Why do fat people float more easily than thin ones?

Today's Horoscope

Those whose birthdays are today may well celebrate with joy, for their prospects for the next 12 months are excellent. Their business will prosper, and they will, besides, enjoy much domestic happiness. Children born late in the day on this date will be extremely fortunate. Such children will be philosophical, good-natured, but practical and prudent withal in material affairs.

Hints on Etiquette

When rising from a dining table it is not necessary to push the chair back into place. It is considered better form to allow the chair to rest where it is after you rise.

One-Minute Test Answers

1. By Ethan Allen at the capture of Ticonderoga, May 10, 1775. His reply to the British officer who asked by what authority he demanded the surrender of the fort, was: "In the name of the Great Jehovah and the Continental Congress."

Several Yank Veterans On Way Out; Others In

By Pat Robinson

NEW YORK, August 14—The Yankees are due for a thorough overhauling next spring and several of the more famous members of the fast fading champions have already been tabbed to go.

From an authentic source we learn today that the Yankees will show new faces at first base and shortstop next season and that at least two new pitchers will supplant men now drawing their final Yankee paychecks.

Johnny Sturm of the Yankees' Kansas City farm club, who is generally rated the best first baseman in the minors, is already booked to replace Babe Dahlgren.

And Phil Rizzuto is almost a sure bet to take Frank Crosetti's place at short. Rizzuto and Sturm are now burning up the American Association and our informant has this to say about the pair:

"Rizzuto could step into almost anybody's shoes in the Major Leagues today and we figure he will be a ball of fire for us next year. Of course, we will give Crosetti every chance to make a comeback, but we will not waste any time on veterans next spring because they will have to show us something right from the start."

"Sturm isn't a home run hitter, but he gets plenty of doubles and triples and we're trying to make a pull hitter out of him so that he can do us more good in the stadium."

Pressure On Four
Charley Ruffing, Monte Pearson, Bump Hadley and Lefty Gomez are among the pitchers who will have to deliver or seek new pastures. All four are veterans and all have been bothered by sore arms. And a sore-armed veteran is not the material out of which pennant winners are built.

Manager Joe McCarthy will have at least seven young pitchers under his wing during spring training and at least two of them are tabbed as top-flight prospects.

These seven right hands are John Lindell and Charley Stancou and Lefty Al Galhauser of Kansas City and Right Handers Hank Borowy, George Barley, George Washington and Norman Branch of the Yankees' Newark farm.

"All of these fellows have shown show, but not at DeMille's Paradise Ranch. 'I'll meet you anywhere but at the ranch,' Hope said. Stories of rattlesnakes around the ranch scared Hope away from making appointments there with the producer. Before a visitor reaches the ranch, he is given a broomstick to use in case he encounters one of the reptiles, which he usually does.

CONVENTIONS COST
Figures released by the business office of WLW, Cincinnati, show that it cost approximately $16,000 for that station to cover the Republican and Democratic national conventions at Philadelphia and Chicago, respectively.

The figures included refunds made to advertisers because of cancelled programs and the actual expense of lines and sending staffs to the convention cities.

Advertisers were refunded $4,329.72 during the Democratic meeting at Chicago, including programs cancelled from the networks and on WLW alone. A total of $2,250 was expended on telephone line charges and the expenses of the staff of six which the station sent to cover the event.

The Republican convention at Philadelphia caused the cancellation of $7,322.80 in business, consisting of both network and local programs. In addition, WLW spent $2,160 for lines and staff expenses.

The big push will be on for a radio "Scarlett O'Hara" if the quest for a sponsor of "Gone With The Wind" succeeds.

PARADISE RANCH?

Bob Hope, who will make a Radio Theatre appearance sometime this Fall, wanted to talk to Producer Cecil B. DeMille about the show, but not at DeMille's Paradise Ranch. "I'll meet you anywhere but at the ranch," Hope said. Stories of rattlesnakes around the ranch scared Hope away from making appointments there with the producer. Before a visitor reaches the ranch, he is given a broomstick to use in case he encounters one of the reptiles, which he usually does.

CONVENTIONS COST
Figures released by the business office of WLW, Cincinnati, show that it cost approximately $16,000 for that station to cover the Republican and Democratic national conventions at Philadelphia and Chicago, respectively.

The figures included refunds made to advertisers because of cancelled programs and the actual expense of lines and sending staffs to the convention cities.

Advertisers were refunded $4,329.72 during the Democratic meeting at Chicago, including programs cancelled from the networks and on WLW alone. A total of $2,250 was expended on telephone line charges and the expenses of the staff of six which the station sent to cover the event.

The Republican convention at Philadelphia caused the cancellation of $7,322.80 in business, consisting of both network and local programs. In addition, WLW spent $2,160 for lines and staff expenses.

The big push will be on for a radio "Scarlett O'Hara" if the quest for a sponsor of "Gone With The Wind" succeeds.

Several Yank Veterans On Way Out; Others In

By Pat Robinson

NEW YORK, August 14—The Yankees are due for a thorough overhauling next spring and several of the more famous members of the fast fading champions have already been tabbed to go.

From an authentic source we learn today that the Yanks will show new faces at first base and shortstop next season and that at least two new pitchers will supplant men now drawing their final Yankee paychecks.

Johnny Sturm of the Yankees' Kansas City farm club, who is generally rated the best first baseman in the minors, is already booked to replace Babe Dahlgren.

And Phil Rizzuto is almost a sure bet to take Frank Crosetti's place at short. Rizzuto and Sturm are now burning up the American Association and our informant has this to say about the pair:

"Rizzuto could step into almost anybody's shoes in the Major Leagues today and we figure he will be a ball of fire for us next year. Of course, we will give Crosetti every chance to make a comeback, but we will not waste any time on veterans next spring because they will have to show us something right from the start."

"Sturm isn't a home run hitter, but he gets plenty of doubles and triples and we're trying to make a pull hitter out of him so that he can do us more good in the stadium."

Pressure On Four

Charley Ruffing, Monte Pearson, Bump Hadley and Lefty Gomez are among the pitchers who will have to deliver or seek new pastures. All four are veterans and all have been bothered by sore arms. And a sore-armed veteran is not the material out of which pennant winners are built.

Manager Joe McCarthy will have at least seven young pitchers under his wing during spring training and at least two of them are tabbed as top-flight prospects.

These seven right hands are John Lindell and Charley Stanceu and Lefty Al Gahauer of Kansas City and Right Handers Hank Borowy, George Barley, George Washburn and Norman Branch of the Yanks' Newark farm.

"All of these fellows have shown us enough to indicate that they could win in the majors," said our informant. "At the moment Lindell and Washburn seem to have first call. Lindell has lots of poise and Washburn appears to have overcome a tendency to wildness.

Borowy has a world of stuff, but he lacks experience. Stanceu and Barley are the smart type of pitchers and Gahauer is showing us steady improvement. Branch is going well and in some respects is more nearly ready for the big time than any of the others.

Two Winners Certain

"We are sure to get at least two winners out of this crop and some veterans will have to move on to make room for the youngsters."

"You know it takes only two or three changes to put a slipping team on its feet again and we feel sure we have the material to make the Yanks pennant winners again next year. We'll have one of the youngest teams in the majors next year and maybe the best."

In other words, the Yanks are only saying au revoir and not goodbye to miss pennant. They will be looking her up again next year.

BOWERS FOR PRECH

MT. VERNON, August 14—The Mt. Vernon board of education today announced the appointment of Paul F. Bowers, to succeed Myron Prech as basketball coach at Mt. Vernon High School. Bowers, a graduate of Ohio State, has coached at Millersport in Fairfield County for several years. Prech recently accepted a position at Canton Timken High School.

SIROCCO'S FOOT BROKEN IN WASHINGTON EVENT

CHICAGO, August 14—Sirocco, the Dixiana farm three-year old which gained national prominence by winning the rich Arlington classic, suffered a broken bone in his right forefoot while running in the American Derby at Washington Park Saturday, it was revealed today.

The horse, which finished second to Moland in the derby, was cut about the legs in the race, but it was not until x-rays were taken that the fracture was revealed. The foot has been placed in a cast.

THE HEROES AND THE GOATS

By International News Service
HEROES—Joe Di Maggio, Yankees, whose heavy-hitting sparked the Yanks to a double win over the Boston Red Sox; Frank McCormick, Reds, whose homer and tenth inning single played a big part in Cincinnati's win over Pittsburgh; Taft Wright, White Sox, who drove in the winning run in the ninth with a double.

GOATS—Dutch Meyer, Tigers, who left a grounder go through him allowing the Cleveland Indians to score the winning run in the ninth; Ken Heintzelman, Pirates, who issued a free pass in the tenth to put the winning run on base.

RED BIRDS GAIN

2-1 VICTORY OVER

LEAGUE LEADERS

COLUMBUS, August 14—The Columbus Red Birds were back to within three games of second place in the American Association flag race today as their 2 to 1 victory over the league-leading Kansas City Blues was recorded.

Frank Melton chalked up his ninth victory of the season in allowing the Blues only three hits while his teammates were collecting five off the deliveries of Don Hendrickson and Al Gearhauser.

Larry Barton accounted for the Birds' score with a homer in the second inning with a man on.

Second-place Minneapolis, meanwhile, was dropping a 4 to 0 decision to Indianapolis. Lefty Bob Logan limited the hard-hitting Millers to a brace of singles as he recorded his 15th win of the season.

In other games, Milwaukee knocked off Toledo, 9 to 5, and St. Paul swamped Louisville, 6 to 1.

BAER MAY MEET

BOMBER; PASTOR,

CONN POSTPONED

By Lawton Carver

NEW YORK, August 14—A Joe Louis-Max Baer world heavyweight championship fight in the fall seemed assured today as a result of postponement of last night's engagement between Billy Conn and Bob Pastor.

While vouching nothing more articulate than a clacking of his store teeth in the castanet-like rhythm peculiar to him, Promoter Mike Jacobs was in the mood to re-consider giving Baer the return crack at Louis which he was promised for dispatching with Tony Galento in their recent genteel riot in Jersey.

Up to now Jacobs has hollered stickup in the general direction of Baer because of the latter's demands for a sizeable price for the Louis encounter, and there has been some squabbling, too, over whether the bout would draw any money.

But now there doesn't seem to be much choice in the matter if Jacobs is to promote a final fall show for Louis, who has defended his title three times this year and would like to go to bat once more.

With the Conn-Pastor bout put off until September 5, when it will be held in Madison Square Garden instead of the Polo Grounds scarcely enough time left for the winner to meet Louis in an outdoor spectacle. Cold weather will be setting in along about October. So the winner could be held over until next year, and in the meantime the steamup could be started for a Baer-Louis belting.

Another speculative version of the postponement was that the Pastor-Conn show would be called off entirely and Conn would be sent out against Louis in September.

In any case, Jacobs is confronted by the not too vexing problem of trying to get an opponent for Louis while at the same time satisfying Conn and Pastor.

Baer as an opponent for Louis might be built up into a good card as a result of his out-gaming and out-punching the garrulous Galento and despite Baer's poor showing against Louis in their previous meeting, which Louis won by a knockout. No one would give Baer the remotest chance of winning and most observers would flatly pick him to quit sooner or later, but he can hit and that would be something to dwell on.

25,000 TO SEE

RACING CLASSIC

AT GOSHEN, N. Y.

Wide Open Hambletonian To

Be Staged; Short's Remus

Has Chance To Win

By Lewis Burton

GOSHEN, N. Y., August 14—It is Hambletonian day, today and to Buccolic, drowsy Goshen, nestling in the Orange hills, 60 miles from New York City, it means a sudden burst of excited action.

The town is up and about in the role of host to some 25,000 visitors for the Kentucky Derby of harness horse racing, and the bustle is due to reach a new high.

Most of the horse-lovers expected to jam into Good Time Park never came any closer to a nag than to ride a terra cotta version on a carousel, but the pari-mutuels, along with the new mechanical start and photo-finish, have come to the Hambletonian this year, promising faster action under and in front of the grandstand.

Nine starters, headed by Spencer Scott, Kuno, Remus and Milestone, are ready to go after the richest stake the Hambletonian has offered since 1932. It is worth $43,658.45, with $24,012.15 of the jack-pot going to the winner.

Spencer Scott Liked
Spencer Scott, owned by Charles W. Phellis of Greenwich, Conn., is the general favorite, but the trotting horse people consider it the most wide open race since Lord Jim won in 1934.

Spencer Scott figured at 3 to 2 in the morning line. Dunbar Bostwick's Kuno, to be driven by Harry Whitney, was 4 to 1, with Remus, 7 to 1, Milestone, 8 to 1. The Berry stable entry of Steward and Earl's Moody Guy, 10 to 1.

There are three fillies in the field. It's not an unusual state of affairs, because fillies have won the race six times. There is quite a bit of talk in the tobacco-chewing crowd about the merit of Queen Victoria, owned by William H. Strang of Brooklyn and to be driven by Ben White, a two-time winner of the race. Queen Victoria is considered a good-looking outsider. She has raced only twice this year, but she comes of a good strain and has been training very well. She is a full sister of the Marchioness, the 1932 winner. The two other fillies are Sister Hanover and Princess Pert.

There is one notable absentee from the ranks of famous reims-men this year. Doc Hugh M. Parrshall, for many seasons the leading winner of the harness circuit, and driver of Peter Astra, the 1939 victor, hasn't a horse in the field. He was expected to handle E. Roland Harriman's Leading Lady, but when time came to post the final $500 of the $960 entry fee yesterday it was decided her racing so far did not warrant the investment.

Rain To Be No Handicap
It rained all around but not in Goshen, except for one brief shower, yesterday, and this naturally gave rise to talk about possible postponement. The Hambletonian has been put over in the past, but rain isn't considered sufficient cause for postponement. It must turn the track into a morass, and they don't expect that this afternoon.

CINCINNATI GOES

TO CHICAGO FOR

CUB COMPETITION

CHICAGO, August 14—Fresh from a 4 to 3 10-inning victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates, the Cincinnati Reds pulled into Chicago today for a series with Phil Wrigley's Cubs.

As second-place Brooklyn did not play because of rain, the victory over the Pirates boosted the Reds' National League lead to five full games.

Cincinnati was behind, 3 to 1, going into the ninth, but Frank McCormick hit his 16th homer of the season to start a rally that tied up the game at three all. A single run in the tenth enabled the Reds to win the game.

Joe Beggs, the third Redleg hurler, got credit for the victory. "Junior" Thompson started but gave way in the sixth to Milt Shoffner.

Frank McCormick led the Red attack with a single in addition to his homer. Goodman also had two safeties, a single and a double.

Lloyd Moore was to hurl for the Redlegs today with Claude Passeau slated as his opposing moundman.

Queen Victoria, owned by William H. Strang of Brooklyn and to be driven by Ben White, a two-time winner of the race. Queen Victoria is considered a good-looking outsider. She has raced only twice this year, but she comes of a good strain and has been training very well. She is a full sister of the Marchioness, the 1932 winner. The two other fillies are Sister Hanover and Princess Pert.

There is one notable absentee from the ranks of famous reims-men this year. Doc Hugh M. Parrshall, for many seasons the leading winner of the harness circuit, and driver of Peter Astra, the 1939 victor, hasn't a horse in the field. He was expected to handle E. Roland Harriman's Leading Lady, but when time came to post the final $500 of the $960 entry fee yesterday it was decided her racing so far did not warrant the investment.

RED BIRDS GAIN 2-1 VICTORY OVER LEAGUE LEADERS

COLUMBUS, August 14—The Columbus Red Birds were back to within three games of second place in the American Association flag race today as their 2 to 1 victory over the league-leading Kansas City Blues was recorded.

Frank Melton chalked up his ninth victory of the season in allowing the Blues only three hits while his teammates were collecting five off the deliveries of Don Hendrickson and Al Gearhauser. Larry Barton accounted for the Birds' score with a homer in the second inning with a man on.

Second-place Minneapolis, meanwhile, was dropping a 4 to 0 decision to Indianapolis. Lefty Bob Logan limited the hard-hitting Millers to a brace of singles as he recorded his 15th win of the season.

In other games, Milwaukee knocked off Toledo, 9 to 5, and St. Paul swamped Louisville, 6 to 1.

BAER MAY MEET BOMBER; PASTOR, CONN POSTPONED

By LAWTON CARVER
NEW YORK, August 14—A Joe Louis-Max Baer world heavyweight championship fight in the fall seemed assured today as a result of postponement of last night's engagement between Billy Conn and Bob Pastor. While vouching nothing more articulate than a clacking of his store teeth in the castanet-like rhythm peculiar to him, Promoter Mike Jacobs was in the mood to re-consider giving Baer the return crack at Louis which he was promised for dispatching with Tony Galento in their recent genteel riot in Jersey.

Up to now Jacobs has hollered stickup in the general direction of Baer because of the latter's demands for a sizeable price for the Louis encounter, and there has been some squabbling, too, over whether the bout would draw any money.

But now there doesn't seem to be much choice in the matter if Jacobs is to promote a final fall show for Louis, who has defended his title three times this year and would like to go to bat once more. With the Conn-Pastor bout put off until September 5, when it will be held in Madison Square Garden instead of the Polo Grounds scarcely enough time left for the winner to meet Louis in an outdoor spectacle. Cold weather will be setting in along about October. So the winner could be held over until next year, and in the meantime the steam could be started for a Baer-Louis belting.

Another speculative version of the postponement was that the Pastor-Conn show would be called off entirely and Conn would be sent out against Louis in September.

In any case, Jacobs is confronted by the not too vexing problem of trying to get an opponent for Louis while at the same time satisfying Conn and Pastor.

Baer as an opponent for Louis might be built up into a good card as a result of his out-gaming and out-punching the garrulous Galento and despite Baer's poor showing against Louis in their previous meeting, which Louis won by a knockout. No one would give Baer the remotest chance of winning and most observers would flatly pick him to quit sooner or later, but he can hit and that would be something to dwell on.

25,000 TO SEE RACING CLASSIC AT GOSHEN, N. Y.

Wide Open Hambletonian To Be Staged; Short's Remus Has Chance To Win

By Lewis Burton
GOSHEN, N. Y., August 14—It is Hambletonian day, today and to Buell, drowsy Goshen, nestled in the Orange hills, 60 miles from New York City, it means a sudden burst of excited action. The town is up and about in the role of host to some 25,000 visitors for the Kentucky Derby of harness horse racing.

SHORT DRIVES REMUS

Harry Short, native of Circleville, will be handling the big horse, Remus, in the Hambletonian this afternoon. Remus has been doing some splendid racing, and followers of the harness circuits believe he has a chance.

harness horse racing, and the bustle is due to race a new high. Most of the horse-lovers expected to jam into Good Time Park never came any closer to a nag than to ride a terra cotta version on a carousel, but the pari-mutuels, along with the new mechanical start and photo-finish, have come to the Hambletonian this year, promising faster action under and in front of the grandstand.

Nine starters, headed by Spencer Scott, Kuno, Remus and Milestone, are ready to go after the richest stake the Hambletonian has offered since 1932. It is worth $43,658.45, with $24,012.15 of the jack-pot going to the winner.

Spencer Scott Liked
Spencer Scott, owned by Charles W. Phellis of Greenwich, Conn., is the general favorite, but the trotting horse people consider it the most wide open race since Lord Jim won in 1934. Spencer Scott figured at 3 to 2 in the morning line. Dunbar Bostwick's Kuno, to be driven by Harry Whitney, was 4 to 1, with Remus, 7 to 1, Milestone, 8 to 1. The Berry stable entry of Steward and Earl's Moody Guy, 10 to 1.

There are three fillies in the field. It's not an unusual state of affairs, because fillies have won the race six times. There is quite a bit of talk in the tobacco-chewing crowd about the merit of

Health Officer Warns Of Contamination Of Water

Samples From Three Wells Show Supply To Be Unsafe For Use

STATE TEST COMPLETED

Denman Says His Company's Supply Good, Darby Creek Remaining Normal

Circleville residents who use water from wells were warned Tuesday by Karl J. Herrmann, who serves as the Circleville health commissioner, to beware of possible contamination.

Because of the drought, Herrmann said, many wells are very low, and contamination is possible.

He said that three samples of water taken from wells in the city had been sent to the State Department of Health and had come back branded as contaminated. Two of the tested wells were on Watt Street and the other was in the southend. All have been sealed.

The dangers from contaminated water are well known, the commissioner pointed out.

"All persons who are drinking water from wells should be extremely careful," he said. "If you have any doubts concerning the condition of the water in the wells, call this department and we will have samples sent to Columbus for tests."

In the meantime, Harry B. Denman, manager of the Ohio Water Service Co., said that the utility's supply is excellent. "Darby Creek has been holding up well," he said, "just as it usually does."

Denman said that the daily consumption of water has been running 400,000 gallons, 100,000 higher than usual. This figure has been prevailing through the entire summer, he said.

TWO CHICKEN THIEVES PAROLED FROM OHIO PEN

Two Vinton Countians who raided numerous Pickaway County henhouses prior to their arrest and sentence to the Ohio penitentiary will be freed on parole April 1, 1941.

They are Ralph and Clarence Goodrich, both of whom are serving larceny sentences.

The Goodriches conducted raids on property in Harrison, Scioto and Jackson Townships, disposing of their loot in Columbus, where they were living at the time of their depredations. Among the henhouses raided were those of Richard Hedges and Wayne Hoover.

They were among 59 prisoners paroled Tuesday from the Ohio prison.

Walnut Youths Return After 1,161-Mile Trip

By S. D. Fridley, Ashville, Phone 79

The recently-completed trip taken by the Walnut School Vocational Agriculture boys and their instructor, K. L. Holtrey, in a school bus driven by Russell Hedges was considered very successful.

Sixteen boys went on this trip of the expected nineteen. Engine Reed, Ralph McCain and Neal Reed were unable to go.

The group left the school at 6:45 a. m. Sunday and at 9 o'clock attended Sunday School in Marion. At noon lunch was enjoyed at the Castalia Blue Hole. From there the boys went through Toledo and Jackson, Mich., to Parma for camp. Monday, the boys went through the Post Company plant and had free breakfast. Benton Harbor, Mich., and a swim were next on the schedule, after which Chicago was the next stop.

The boys visited the Chicago airport on Tuesday, and also toured the Chicago airport, the Saddle and Siroin Club, the Chicago Producers' Commission Association, and the Union stockyards, and the Swift Co., where a free dinner was served. A complete tour of the Swift plant was enjoyed.

The party left Chicago for Lake Geneva, Wis., where it camped. On the next day the group visited Madison, and then returned to Chicago by a different route.

Thursday found the boys taking in additional parts of the Chicago area including the Loop district, the Chicago Board of Trade and Grant's Park. The Friday trip home included Fort Wayne, Van Wert, Lake St. Mary's and Indian Lake, stopping at the latter place for three hours for bathing, boating and biking.

The entire trip covered 1,161 miles.

Mrs. Priscilla Valentine and daughter Mary who have spent the last eight weeks at Corpus Christi Texas, guests at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Clarence and Mrs. Baum have returned home. They were accompanied by Mr. Baum who will spend several days here among relatives and friends before returning home.

RESIGNATION OF WALLACE NEAR

F. D.'s Agriculture Chief To Quit To Campaign For Vice-Presidency

WASHINGTON, August 14 — Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace has definitely decided to resign from the cabinet before campaigning for the vice-presidency on President Roosevelt's third term ticket, it was learned today.

Wallace reached this decision as the Republicans completed their plans for notifying Wendell Willkie of his GOP nomination and Attorney General Jackson warned there will be strict federal enforcement of the Hatch "clean politics" act.

Wallace will submit his resignation to the President—in lieu of asking for a leave of absence—either the day before or the day after he is notified at Des Moines, August 28, that he is the Democratic vice-presidential nominee. New Deal politicians are urging him to quit August 27—the day Senator Charles L. McNary is to be notified at Salem, Ore., that he is the Republican vice-presidential candidate. Others suggest Wallace resign August 29, the day after his own notification.

With Wallace retiring from the cabinet, Mr. Roosevelt will have two cabinet vacancies to fill before the election. Postmaster General James A. Farley already has resigned, effective August 31. There are two favorites, among New Dealers, for Wallace's post. They are Rep. Marvin Jones of Texas, and Gov. Lloyd C. Stark of Missouri. Jones, however, must resign a recently accepted lifetime federal judgeship to enter the cabinet, so Stark may get the post.

Mrs. Edward Dewey, Mrs. Hazel Cloud and son Perry, Ashville, Mrs. Audrey Elsie, daughter Jo Ellen, Columbus, motored to White House, Ohio, where they were the guests of Mrs. Charles Haskins and family. Mrs. Dewey is Mrs. Haskins' mother.

It's next, if not all the way to a crime to permit this fine and friendly little Collie dog here in Ashville without a home, to be killed. Here is hoping that some kindly disposed farm resident will respond to this call. Our phone number is 79.

ROY JUSTICE MAY HAVE HALF-BROTHER, BUT HE ISN'T CERTAIN ABOUT IT

If you were standing on a scaffold with a paint brush in your hand and a fellow came along and shouted to you that he was your half-brother who hadn't seen you for more than 50 years, you probably wouldn't pay any attention to him either.

Anyway, Roy Justice, East Mound Street, didn't Monday, when a stranger from Illinois came along as he stood painting the spouting on the First Presbyterian Church.

The stranger claimed his father and Roy's was the same William Justice, but Roy, who never thought he had a half-brother, still isn't sure that he has.

IF WILLKIE WINS

A group of ardent young New Dealers and their wives held a weighty conference under a lamp post. It was a Georgetown lamp post at the corner of Thirtieth and N Streets, and they all lived near that corner, but they all wondered how long they would live there.

That was the subject that weighed upon their minds, but they didn't express it in the usual political talk. Their talk was confined to leases.

James H. Rowe, administrative assistant to the President, whose house is right on the corner, looked at Ralph T. Seward, who lives in the famous "narrowest house" a few doors below. And Mrs. Seward looked at Mrs. Rowe.

Abe Fortas, once of SEC, now Bituminous Coal Division counsel, studied the face of Ed Rhett, Associate Solicitor of the Labor Department. Fortas was thinking of his house on the opposite corner.

When thoughts found words, they were something like this: "Are you planning to renew your lease?" "Dunno, are you?" "Mine's up in October."

"So's mine." "Going to sign up for another year?"

No mention was made of the name "Willkie"—not a word. But presently someone said, "I think I'll see what kind of cancellation clause I can get in case—"

The sentence was never finished. It wasn't necessary.

LET THERE BE LESS LIGHT

One of the important anti-trust cases upon which the Justice Department is working quietly is the attempt of big utility companies to suppress the use of electric light bulbs using less current, and thus reducing the housewife's electric light bills.

What the Justice Department has unearthed is the fact that the General Electric Company was exhibiting at the New York World's Fair a new fluorescent bulb which generates the same amount of light as a standard bulb on less than one-third the amount of power.

However, some of the utility companies learned of this and asked General Electric to withdraw the exhibit. Obviously if the public began using this type of bulb, it would mean lowering of electric light consumption and loss of

ANTI-RED FIGHT

The bitter battle against the Communist-controlled Workers Alliance opens on a new front next Monday.

Two hundred delegates from thirty states will meet in Chicago to organize a new national WPA workers union to be free of Red domination. Leaders of the convention are David Lasser, former head of the Workers Alliance, who quit because of Communist penetration, and six national board officers who walked out with him.

Lasser decided to launch a new union after a tour of Alliance branches in eighteen states. Everywhere he found strong sentiment for an organization free of Red influence. Among the names under consideration for the new union is American Security Alliance.
